Arctic Region Oil & Gas Conference

28–29 February 2012

Radisson Blu Atlantic Hotel

Stavanger • Norway

The Arctic Region Oil & Gas conference is an international forum that offers the industry's perspectives on regional projects in the offshore Arctic. Delegates will gain insight into Arctic projects and opportunities in the oil, gas and hydrocarbons industry in the world's harshest climates, such as: Russia, Norway, Canada and Greenland.

The two day programme, opened by the Mayor of Stavanger, plays host to an influential panel of speakers from organisations such as: Shtokman Development AG; Nunaoil; Tschudi Shipping Company; the Arctic Council; National Research Council of Canada; SINTEF; Petroleum Safety Authority, Norway; Bureau of Minerals and Petroleum, Greenland; International Energy Agency; Golder Associates Ltd; and the Government of the Murmansk Region of Russia.

The Arctic Region Oil & Gas conference is designed to serve the needs of oil and gas companies from across the industry value chain, operating or seeking to operate in the Arctic region.

The focus of the programme will be:

- The development of hydrocarbons export and supply routes in the Arctic
- An industry activity update in the Arctic shelf – Russia, Norway, Canada and Greenland
- Co-operation in the Barents Sea
- Advances in marine seismic operations
- Transportation challenges in the Arctic
- Arctic LNG projects
- Oil spill prevention and environmental operating solutions
- Escape, evacuation and rescue programme
- Occupational health and safety management
- Offshore technical solutions

“Among the most promising and least explored offshore areas globally, with high potential for liquids and gas”

Senior Executive, Exxon Mobil
